ABSTRACT

Methods, systems and computer program products are provided for transferring log data to a server over a wireless network from a plurality of remote devices. The server is configured to receive data from the plurality of remote devices. A transfer period is scheduled for transferring log data from a remote device to the server taking into account a wireless network signal strength of the remote device for the scheduled transfer period. The scheduled transfer period does not overlap a time when an estimated wireless network strength is too low to transfer the log data.
